

Miterwort

Saxifrage Family
(Mitella diphylla)

Miterwort has a single pair of leaves in the middle of its stem. The white flowers grow in a long raceme. Each beautifully fringed flower resembles a snowflake. It grows 10-18 inches high in rich woods and blooms in the spring. It is also called Bishop's Cap.

Native species.