

Solomon's Seal

Lily Family

(Polygonatum biflorum)

Solomon's Seal has greenish-yellow flowers that dangle in pairs from an arching stem. The smooth leaves grow alternately above the flowers. Its berries are blue-black. The plant grows 1-3 feet high in woods and blooms in late spring and early summer.

Native species.