

Wild Garlic

Lily Family
(Allium canadense)

Wild Garlic has an erect flower cluster with numerous small bulbs and few, if any, whitish or pink flowers. The very slender leaves are mostly near the base. It grows 8-24 inches high in moist meadows and open woods. It blooms in late spring and early summer.

Native species.