

Roundleaf Ragwort

Composite Family
(Senecio obovatus)

Roundleaf Ragwort has egg-shaped basal leaves, wider above the middle, tapering into a slender stalk. It has flat-topped clusters of small, yellow-rayed flowers. It grows 6-24 inches high in woods, on banks and on calcareous rocks. It blooms in spring and early summer.

Native species.